 - 1970s-2000 & Beyond

- METHODS OF EVALUATION:

There will be 3 examinations in this course, one at the end of each Module. The last exam is not cumulative, it will just test you on material from the third Module. Before each of the exams you will have a Summary/Reflection Activity to complete (details on that assignment is in Canvas) and I will provide you with a reminder.

Each Module will have notes for students, video lectures, and other activities. There will also be some primary document activities for you to complete. There will be three Discussion Board forums in this course (again details on those forums are in Canvas). There also will be a tv analysis and interview for students to complete.

In addition, students will be expected to complete a Research Paper. A student's overall participation in the course will also be considered when calculating their final grade. The Professor may require additional assignments or may provide additional bonus work (with the points added to the test grades).

- GRADING POLICY:

Your grade will be determined in the following way:

Three examinations =	30%
Research Paper =	20%

Discussion Board =	15%
Summary/Reflection Papers	15%
TV analysis & Interview =	10%
Primary document assignment =	10%

All of that adds up to 100%. Bonus point opportunities will be available to help students improve their test grades.

Grades will be posted online – Canvas Grades.

Each of the examinations will consist of 50 multiple choice questions. Reviews will be provided prior to each of the examinations. Details on preparing the research paper and other assignments and participating in the Discussion Boards are included in Canvas.

Computer Hardware and Software Requirements

Generally, personal computers purchased in the last three years should be adequate to access Canvas. Software requirements include Microsoft Internet Explorer 7.x or higher (www.microsoft.com) , the latest version of Sun JAVA (www.java.com), the latest updates to your operating system (Microsoft Windows XP or higher or Apple MAC OS X or higher), and the latest updates to your anti-virus and spyware protection. Students needing assistance with accessing instructional technology should contact the GC Help Desk. For more information, visit the Help Desk link: <https://mypage.grayson.edu/ICS/Help/>

- Alternative Procedures for Submitting Work

Please do not wait until the last minute to submit assignments. Students should allow enough time before the due date to submit all assignments. Should there be a technical problem, immediately notify the instructor via external email or Canvas email. Alternative arrangements, if permitted, will be discussed at that time.

- NOTE: REGARDING MAKE-UPS:

- Students should not expect to automatically receive a make-up for an examination. If a student is unable to take a test during the designated time and wants to take a make-up it is the student's responsibility to arrange a conference with the Professor to determine if a make-up will be given. Based on the conference outcome, a make-up exam may or may not be administered at the discretion of the Professor. No make-ups will be given for the third examination due to time constraints.

- Late Work

No late work is accepted for the internet activities as assignments are made clear in the course syllabus. Only in extreme circumstances (which requires documentation) will such work be accepted after the due date. At the end of the semester if any late work is accepted it will only be for assignments that had been due during the last 2 weeks of the course. No makeup assignments from the beginning of the course will be accepted.

- Class Attendance:

Academic success is closely associated with regular classroom attendance and course participation. All successful students, whether on campus or online, are expected to be highly self-motivated. All students are required to participate in the course regularly and are obliged to participate in class activities and complete and submit assignments following their professor's instructions. Students taking courses during compressed semester time frames such as mini-mester, summer sessions, and mid-semester should plan to spend significantly more time per week on the course. Responsibility for work missed because of illness or school business is placed upon the student. In addition, students' eligibility to receive financial aid or live in a College dormitory can be affected by withdrawal from courses. When withdrawal occurs, any tuition refund would be made in accordance with state regulations. I will be checking your activity on a weekly basis and if you have not participated in the weekly assignment you will be counted as absent for that week. Class attendance does not constitute simply logging into your course shell. You must attempt at least one of the assignments, email the instructor, or otherwise engage in the course in some significant manner to have been considered in attendance.

- Academic integrity:

The faculty expects from its students a high degree of responsibility and academic honesty. Because the value of an academic degree depends upon the absolute integrity of the work done by the student for that degree, it is imperative that a student demonstrate a high standard of individual honor in his or her scholastic work.

- Any student who commits an act of scholastic dishonesty is subject to discipline. Scholastic dishonesty includes but is not limited to cheating, plagiarism, collusion, the submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person, taking an examination for another person, any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student or the attempt to commit such acts.
- Plagiarism, especially from the web, from portions of papers for other classes, and from any other source is unacceptable and will be dealt with under the college's policy on plagiarism (see GCC Student Handbook for details). This course will use the resources of Turnitin.com, which searches the web for possible plagiarism and is over 90% effective.
- Student Conduct & Discipline
Students are expected to maintain classroom decorum that includes respect for other students and the Professor, prompt and regular attendance, and an attitude that seeks to take full advantage of the educational opportunity.

- The Professor will ask a student to excuse himself/herself from the class for disregard of any of the expectations listed above.
- Be prepared to consider views different from your own. Every opinion is important, but I will not tolerate any disparaging remarks toward another person's belief system. Even if you believe that others in the class AGREE with your remarks. There will always be people with diverse backgrounds, orientations, persuasions, and experiences. Every person has the right to be treated respectfully.
- If this becomes an issue in your online submissions, you will receive a zero on the assignment and may be removed from the class.
- Technical Difficulties
- These are the responsibility of the student-NOT the Professor. Assignments are made early enough that if problems do occur, students will be able to make other arrangements to complete and submit the work as assigned. "Technical Difficulties" will NOT be an acceptable excuse for failing to submit work in the format required or in a timely manner. The GC Homepage provides information on reaching the "Help Desk" to resolve problems.
- Student Responsibility
You have already made the decision to go to college; now the follow-up decisions on whether to commit to doing the work could very well determine whether you end up working at a good paying job in a field you enjoy or working at minimum wage for the rest of your life. Education involves a partnership that requires both students and instructors to do their parts. By entering into this partnership, you have a responsibility to show up for class, do the assignments and reading, be engaged and pay attention in class, follow directions, and put your best efforts into it. You will get out of our experience here exactly what you put into it—nothing more and nothing less.
- TITLE IX
GC policy prohibits discrimination on the basis of age, ancestry, color, disability, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, retaliation, serious medical condition, sex, sexual orientation, spousal affiliation and protected veteran status.

Furthermore, Title IX prohibits sex discrimination to include sexual misconduct: sexual violence (sexual assault, rape), sexual harassment and retaliation.
For more information on Title IX, please contact:

- Copyright Notice:
- The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials, including music and software. Copying, displaying, reproducing, or distributing copyrighted works may infringe the copyright owner's rights and such infringement is subject to appropriate disciplinary action as well as criminal penalties provided by federal law. Usage of such material is only appropriate when that usage constitutes "fair use" under the Copyright Act.
- Withdrawal from Class:
The administration of this institution has set deadlines for withdrawal of any college-level courses. These dates and times are published in that semester's course catalog. Administrative procedures must be followed. It is the student's responsibility to handle student-initiated withdrawal requirements from any class. You must complete the proper paperwork to ensure that you will not receive a final grade of "F" in a course if you choose not to attend the class once you are enrolled (see GCC College Catalog for details).
- Disability Services:
The goal of Disability Services is to provide students with disabilities educational opportunities equal to those of their non-disabled peers. Disability Services is located in room SC 115 in the Student Success Center. The contact information for the Office of Disability Services is: Jeffri Hodges, (903) 463-8751 (voice or TTY), hodgej@grayson.edu.
- If you anticipate issues related to the format or requirements of this course, please meet with the Coordinator of Disability Services. The Coordinator is available to discuss ways to ensure your full participation in the course. If you determine that formal, disability-related accommodations are necessary, it is very important that you be registered with Disability Services to notify them of your eligibility for reasonable accommodations. Disability Services can then plan how best to coordinate your accommodations.
- It is the student's responsibility to notify his or her professors of the need for such an accommodation. Disability Services provides students with letters to present to faculty members to verify that the student has a disability and needs accommodations. Individuals requiring special accommodations should contact the professor.

- Financial Aid:

Effective July 1, 2000 students receiving Title IV funds (Pell, Federal grants, and Student Loans), who subsequently withdrew from classes, will be required to return a portion of the federal financial aid received. Only the percentage of aid earned (determined by the percentage of time attended) will be eligible for retention on the student's behalf. Any aid that is not earned must be returned to its source. If there is a student account balance resulting from these adjustments, the student is responsible for payment. Further details can be obtained from the Office of Financial Aid.

- Drop Rule:

Under section 51.907 of the Texas Education Code, "an institution of higher education may not permit a student to drop more than six courses, including any course a transfer student has dropped at another institution of higher education." This statute was enacted by the State of Texas in spring 2007 and applies to students who enroll in a public institution of higher education as first-time freshmen in fall 2007 or later. Any course that a student drops is counted toward the six-course limit if (1) the student drops a course after census date or 2) the student is not dropping the course in order to withdraw from the institution. Some exemptions for good cause could allow a student to drop a course without having it counted toward this limit, but it is the responsibility of the student to establish that good cause before the drop. Students with questions should contact the Counseling Office or the Office of Admission & Records for more information before dropping a course!
