Methods of Evaluation

The student will be evaluated in the following ways:

- Completion of tests (all tests are online)
- Completion of various coding assignments (all assignments are online)
- Completion of tests and assignments in MindTap
- Participation in Canvas Discussion regarding current topics in the health field

Grading

The final grade will be determined by using the following scale:

MindTap Tests, Quizzes, Assignments	55%
Various coding assignments	35%
Participation on Discussion Board	10%

Grades are posted in Canvas.

Methods of Instruction

As an Internet class, students will be expected to do the following:

Read all the material the instructor presents

Read the textbook as assigned

Complete all assignments, online tests, and participate in Canvas Discussion

Information for Online Classes

Late work will not be accepted. Grades are earned based on performance and not effort. Grades are earned, they are not given.

Late work: Please do not ask me to make exceptions for late homework. Everyone has a reason why homework was not submitted on time or forgot to attach it to the e-mail. To be fair to all students, the course requirements must be applied equally to all students. That is the only way to be fair.

Attendance/Participation: Students are expected to participate in online classes just like you would if it were a face-to-face class. There are assignments due every Sunday by 11:59 p.m. The professor is required to submit your attendance in the course on a weekly basis. In order to be counted as attending for the week, the student must have completed the assignments due that week. Attendance is not part of the course grade.

Attendance policy: This is an Internet course and all testing is online. Class attendance is based on Canvas participation. Academic success is closely associated with course participation. All successful students, whether on campus or online, are expected to be highly self-motivated. All students are required to participate in courses regularly and are obliged to participate in class activities and complete and submit assignments following their professors' instructions. Students taking courses during compressed semester time frames such as mini-mester, summer sessions, and mid-semester should plan to spend significantly more time per week on the course. Responsibility for work missed because of illness or school business is placed upon the student. In accordance with the College's Developmental Education Plan, students withdrawn from their only developmental course may be withdrawn from all academic courses. In addition, students' eligibility to receive financial aid or live in a college dormitory can be affected by withdrawal from courses. When administrative withdrawal occurs, any tuition refund would be made in accordance with state regulations.

Communication: Communication between the instructor and students will primarily be through the course site in GC Canvas. Frequent announcements, comments in the course discussions, responses to email, as well as feedback on homework assignments will be provided regularly. Students can communicate with one another through the course discussions tool and/or Canvas mail. You may also contact me by phone or Canvas Inbox and arrange for a one-on-one meeting to discuss any concerns you may have about the class.

Standard of appropriate behavior: All students are expected to be polite and respectful. It is not only common sense, but also obligatory for a productive and supportive online environment. Don't use offensive language. Adhere to the same standard of behavior online that you follow in real life. Failure to do so could result in being denied access to your online class.

Monitoring online activities: Online course activities will be monitored through a variety of methods including active participation by the instructor in various course areas as well as utilization of the Course Tracking tool in GC Canvas. The Course Tracking tool provides detailed statistics for each student for various activities in the course.

Level of technical competence: Students are expected to have a basic understanding of personal computers, internet browsing, desktop applications such as Microsoft Word, and file management (uploading, downloading, or sending files).

Computer hardware and software: Generally, personal computers purchased in the last three years should be adequate to access GC Canvas. Broadband Internet access is recommended. Do not use Internet Explorer with Canvas. Use either Firefox or Chrome. Students needing assistance with accessing instructional technology should contact the GC Help Desk. For more information, visit www.grayson.edu and select the Help Desk link.

Technical breakdowns: Please do not wait until the last minute to submit assignments! Allow enough time before the due date and time to submit your assignments. All work is submitted through Canvas. In the event of technical breakdowns, please contact me via Canvas Inbox or metcalfs@grayson.edu or call my office number (903-463-8738) as soon as possible to make arrangements for submitting your homework. If you are having computer or internet issues, the college has several computer labs available. Free Wi-Fi is available in many locations.

Academic Dishonesty

Academic dishonesty is unacceptable and will not be tolerated. Cheating, forgery, plagiarism, and collusion in dishonest acts undermine the college's educational mission and the students' personal and intellectual growth. Students are expected to bear individual responsibility for their work, to learn the rules and definitions that underlie the practice of academic integrity, and to uphold its ideals. Ignorance of the rules is not an acceptable excuse for disobeying them. Any student who attempts to compromise or devalue the academic process will be sanctioned.

Academic Integrity

The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because the value of an academic degree depends upon the absolute integrity of the work done by the student for that degree, it is imperative that a student demonstrate a high standard of individual honor in his or her scholastic work.

Scholastic Dishonesty, any student who commits an act of scholastic dishonesty is subject to discipline. Scholastic dishonesty includes but is not limited to cheating, plagiarism, collusion, and the submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person, taking an examination for another person, any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student or the attempt to commit such acts.

Plagiarism, especially from the web, from portions of papers for other classes, and from any other source is unacceptable and will be dealt with under the college's policy on plagiarism (see GC Student Handbook for details). Grayson College subscribes to turnitin.com, which allows faculty to search the web and identify plagiarized material.

Student Responsibility

You have already made the decision to go to college; now the follow-up decisions on whether to commit to doing the work could very well determine whether you end up working at a good paying job in a field you enjoy or working at minimum wage for the rest of your life. Education involves a partnership that requires both students and instructors to do their parts. By entering into this partnership, you have a responsibility to do the assignments and reading, follow directions, and put your best effort into it. You will get out of your experience here exactly what you put into it – nothing more and nothing less.
